

Dear Colleague,

The explosion of diabetes has resulted in challenges to our healthcare system and providers alike.

Addressing the needs of the high-risk diabetic population through the Arche Healthcare LEAP Collaborative is a call to action for Podiatrists who recognize the importance and urgency of what is at stake both now and in the future.

Our comprehensive model includes an intensive, proactive approach to care for those at the highest risk for the numerous and quality-of-life altering, and often preventable complications associated with diabetes, not limited to chronic wounds, amputation and death. By providing patients with a higher standard and quality of care, measurable benefits will be attained, and immeasurable rewards will come to those who join our community.

My colleagues and I hope that you will join us in our efforts. We are at a critical time and as Podiatrists, our profession is under scrutiny and our contributions to medicine are often marginalized by those who do not realize the value in our services. The Arche Healthcare LEAP Collaborative is poised to validate the positive impact of Podiatric medicine on our healthcare system and society, while the difference we make begins with a higher standard of care delivered to our patients.

You have been given the gift of being an exceptional Podiatric physician. You now have the resources through Arche Healthcare to take your career to a new level of success where technology and efficiency meets compassion, and your efforts will be recognized.

Most sincerely,

Des Bell, DPM, CWS
CMO Arche Healthcare

David Armstrong, DPM, MD, PhD
Andrew J.M. Boulton, MD
Doran Edwards, MD
Bob Frykberg, DPM
Jim McGuire, DPM, L.Ped
Ken Whitney, DPM
Stephanie Wu, DPM, MSc